THE PLATFORM.

The Democracy of Ohio, in convention assembled, congratulates the country upon the fact that the purty of the people has been restored to power, and with it the promises of its leaders and hopes of its followers are being fully realized.

We cord ally indorse the administration of President Cleveland, as we believe the people of all parties are convinced that his official conduct has been marked with great courage and honesty.

The Democrats of Ohio express their sincere sorrow and acknowledge their great loss by the recent death of that distinguished soldier, orator and statesman, General Durbin Ward. We bear testimony to his courage, integrity and pair of that distinguished soldier, orator and statesman general Durbin Ward. We bear testimony to his courage, integrity and pair of the way country that we are industried to him for wise country.

eral Durbin Ward. We bear testimony to his courage, integrity and pair otism and realize that we are indebted to him for wise counsel and fearless advocacy of our cause in all our campaigns for many years.

We join with the Democrats of the nation in mourning over the still more recent loss of that illustrious man, Namuel J. Tilden, who, by common cousent, was for many years the leader of the Democracy of America, and who was honestly and fairly elected the n neteenth President of the United States.

the n-neteenth President of the United States.

We also deeply lament the death within a short period of time of those other distinguished Democrats, Thomas A. Hendricks, the idol and trusted leader for many years of the Democrats of Indiana, and at the time of his death Vice President of the United States; also, of General George B. McClellan, Horatto Seymour and Winfield Scott Hancock, who have all been our leaders in contests for the highest office within the gift of our people. and whose courage, wisdom and patriotism have made them dear to every true American.

The names and the careers of these-men remind us that as long as we follow the examples and imitate their virtues so long shall we have brilliant leadership and our cause and party be preserved.

Taxes should not be collected beyond the needs of government economically administered, and we hereby reaffirm the principles laid down in our last State and National platforms upon the tariff question, and demand a thorough and just revision of existing tariff laws in accordance with these principles.

We heartily approve the policy of paying ples.

We heartily approve the policy of paying out the surplus revenue heretofore accumulated in the Treasury on the interest bearing By deliar of unnecessary taxation. State or National, is robbery and in derogation of the rights of the people; an unnecessary surplus in the Treasury is an incentive an oppression of the people, whose money is locked up beyond the r control.

We denounce the attempt to change the measure of values in the face of the world's wast debts from gold and silver to gold alone, as an act of monstrous iniustice, and demand that both gold and silver, as established by the Constitution, shall be maintained as the basis of our money system.

We approve the action of the Democratic House of Congress in forfeiting and restoring to the public domain for homesteads for actual settlers, nearly a hundred millions of acres of unearned lands, heretofore granted by Republican Congresses to railroad corporations, and we also approve the act preventing alien ownership in large tracts of public lands in the United States.

We approve the prompt, firm and vigorous action of the State Department and the present Democratic administration in the protection of American citizens in foreign countries.

In common with the Democracy of the country we express our sympathy with Ireland and her great struggle for home rule. The friends of liberty throughout the world are deeply interested in this effort, which the supporters of Gladstone and Parnell are now making to give the right to govern themselves to the long suffering and greatly wronged Irish people, and we sincerely hope the struggle of Ireland for her just rights shall be crowned with complete success. We denounce the usurpat on of the Republican Lieutenant Governor and less than a quorum of the Republican Senators of the State Senate, as an act of revolution and a grave crime against the Constitution of Ohio, and a precedent too dangerous to permit to pass uncondemned by the people of the light of the constitution of the least.

and that every safeguard of the selves on chairs and listened to Hocking Countited.

We denounce and condemn the partisan reorganization of the penal and benevolent institutions of the State not made with a view to increase the efficiency of their management, but for the purpose of controlling their revenues and incidental powers for partisan purposes, thus dragging down to the basest uses the willing gifts of the people for the amelioration of the unfortunate. We hereby express our unbounded conidence in the integrity and Democracy of the Emercial Assembly of Ohio.

Believing that the evils growing out of the system, we renew our declaration in favor of an amendment to the Constitution that will permit judicious regulation of the tradic and repress the abuses growing out of t, without destroying the principles of personal liberty or the right of private judgment.

We heartily endorse the course of the Hon. H. R. Pare as the representative of the first proposentative of the strate of the provised provided against the private judgment.

We heartily endorse the course of the Hon. H. R. Pare as the representative of the first provided county were and the point and the panic was confusion and then Tom Cogan challenged the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis county, which could not be given and the panic was carried. But only for a moment. Then came the booming shout, "59 for McBride, and a vice from Hamilton announced 69 votes for the mining candidate. For a moment there was confusion and then Tom Cogan challenged the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis county, which could not be given and the panic was repressed the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis county, which could not be given and the panic was repressed the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis county, which could not be given and the panic was repressed the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis county, which could not be given and then Tom Cogan challenged the authority for any such bulletin from the Porkopolis or the right of private judgment.

We heartily endorse the course of the Hon. H. B. Pavne as the representative of the State in the Senate of the United States. The purity and integrity of his character are well known to the people of Ohio, and we rejoice that the Republican Senate of the United States refused to become the medium through which the baffled and malicious Republican politicians sought to injure the fair fame of a man whose life is honorably interwoven with the history of the State for more than half a century.

The prosperity of a country must necessarialy depend largely upon the harmonious relations between labor and capital, and we favor the princ ple of arbitrat on in the settlement of all differences between these great interests.

At the close of Colonel McSweeney's reading Hon. W. W. Armstrong, of Cleveland, moved the adoption of the platform, which General Thomas F. Powell, of Delaware, then read a beautiful tribute to the late General Durbin Ward which, on motion of Major Armstrong, was accepted and incor-porated in the proceedings.

HON, R. D. MARSHALL, OF DAYTON, advanced to the platform and spoke as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: I want to say to you that I sat up with my friend McSweeny until nearly four o'clock the morning. I will tell you this—6 confessien that nobody is to say any thing about—that I never sat up with a lady that late in the morning in my life. So you know the high appreciation that I have of my friend McSweeney. This is a wonderful time. They say this is a time of reform, but I have noticed the difference because Democrates asy "Democratic reform," and Republicans say "Republican reform," but there is this distinction between them: When a man is elected Treasurer of the State the Democratic party expects him to perform his duty, but if instead thereof he commits a crime then we relegate him to obscurity and to private life; but when he is succeeded by a Republican, instead of being relegated by the Republican party to private life, that individual is made Ad utant General of the State of Ohio and sent up and down the earth seeking what Democrats he may devour and what wicked and ugly thing he can say about us. But you know the good old prophet said: "Oh, if these enemics of ours would make a speech." I want to give credit to every man for what he does. It is actually said that Governor Foraker has said that he made one appointment that did not come up to his idea. This is it: That he appointed a fellow who is in charge of the flag room and there were some things for which he was suspended, and the Govornor, who was an old soldier—they said when a said to him: "All I done, I was trying to help a lady catch a canary bird that got loose in the flagroom." By and by they called in the man and heard his story and that fellow (who was a soldier) said: "Why I have done nothing," and they called in the said to him: "All I done, I was trying to help a lady catch a canary bird that got loose in the flagroom." By and by they called in the said at least that it was not according to the flagroom and the sa McKemey's motion the rules were suspended and Judge M. D. LAND-GRABBERS SCORED.

proible Reasons, Plainly Stated, Why Railroad and Other Monopolies, and Greedy Thieves Generally, Do Not Like

The first gun of the Indiana camaign, on the Democratic side, was ired by Judge Lewis Jordan, of Indianapolis, in an earnest and able speech lately delivered at Lebanon. After referring to the fact that the navy contractors, steamship companies, Pacific railroads, land and timber thieves et al. were all opposed to the present Administration he proceeded to show the reasons for some of this opposition:

heel but strikes with an iron hand, and ihope the day is not far distant when all these lands will be reclaimed and opened to private entry.

But the railroads are not alone in their raids upon the public lands. They have formidable rivals in the land monopoly companies which are organized all over the Territories. These companies have carried on their stealing of the public lands with perfect system. Their mode of operation has been to employ wild, irresponsible scoundrels to mount their horses and gallop over the prairies, and then return and file claims for all the land they have passed over. These claims are then transferred to the land companies, which are composed largely of foreigners. By such outrageous frauds Scoten and English landlords have obtained estates in our country which surpass in extent and fert lity those held by them at home. An English syndicate holds 3,0,0,0 meres in Texas, and the Holland Land Company 4,50,000 acres in New Mexico. Among the English Lords I find the Marquis of Tweedale owns 1,750,000 acres, the Duke of Sutherland 425,400 acres. Lord Houghton 60,000 acres, special agents have found that an English firm has obtained lands in California. The books have not been fully opened and read, but so far it has been found that foreigners own 2,474,000 acres of our public domains. The foundations have been lad for carving out several rehands in our own country. These startling figures confirm the plea that it was time "to open the books," discharge the book keeper and place an honest man in charge of the Genoral Land Office. Should your local Republican newspaner ask: "When are you going to open the books?" give him some of the facts I have furnished you, and, my word for it, his organ will cease to grind out the question. It is the examination of these fradulent entries that has raised such a howl all along the Republican line. In one year, ending March 31, 1886, 2,225 of these entries were canceled or held up for further hearing and more than 30,000 acres of the books are on and Mr. The cattle kings have bad a regular picnic.

making the sparks fly wherever his hands reach.

The cattle kings have had a regular plenic, and have taken possession of the remainder of the public lands not gobbled up by the railroad corporations, the land companies and the English lords. Crim nal and civil suits in fitty-six cases were brought the first year of the Administration against these robbers, and possession of 1,632,355 acres recovered. In lorty oth reases fences were removed from around 563,189 acres. The cattle kings are about as lawless as their bulls, and the strong arm of the Government list to be evoked to drive them out of the Indian reservations.

The railroad companies, the land companies, the English lords and the cattle kings operated in the open country, and left the forests for the timber thieves. During the first year of the Administration 515 criminal cases and 2.6 civil cases were commenced against these timber thieves. The amount involved in the civil suits was $5,504,870.69, and thus you see how extensive the depredations were. Of course they were all opplosed to opening the doors of the penitentiary.

I would like to refer in detail to the frauds sanctioned by the Republican Administrations in surveying private land grants in New Mexico, Colorado and Arzona. The history reads like a romance, but unfortunately the romance is founded on facts. The Spanish and Mexican land claims are the foundation for all this rascality. I can only give you a few specimens. Mr. Martinez has a grant which was limited to 48,000 acres. Survey is made, and he is given 304,515 acres, and the patent issued. Salvador Gozales, in 1742, was granted by New Mexico "a spot of land to enable him to plant a correlield, and gave him 101,959 acres. This discounts the big cornfield on the Wabash, and is conclusive evidence that Mr. Gonzales had a very numerous family that lived principally on corn.

These are only specimen cases of the hundreds which have been admitted and fraudulent surveys made, so that there is very little public land left in New Mexico. Arizo not here to make a speech. I am like my friend McSweeny. It is a very, very pleasant time to-day and I have had a good time.

It was now a little after two o'clock, and despite calls for others of the distinguished gentlemen the convention adjourned and the delegates filed out of the hall.

THE MIGHTY DEAD.

Toll for the mighty dead,
Ye be'ls, through all the land,
While with uncovered head
Beside his grave we stand.
And mourn our chieftain passed away
To fairer lands—to brighter day.

When foul corruption's fear
Had darkened all our sky,
He grasped Ithuriel's spear
And bade she monster die:
The baffied hosts of darkness fied
When he truth's conqu'ring legions led.

Led by his guiding light
The Empire State grew strong;
He won for her the r ght,
He trampled down the wrong;
And now from lake to ocean wave
She mourns beside his hallowed "gave.

A Nation's grateful hand
its highest gift bestowed—
The vilest of the land
(Yer truth and justice rode—
Caimly he stood, serenely bright,
Nor drew the sword to win his right.

Toil for the mighty dead,
Ye bells, with solemn sound,
While now his reverend head
We lay in ballowed ground;
An uncrowned King he reigns for aye
In fairer lands—in brighter day.

Tilden and Hayes.

The burial of Mr. Tilden ends forever the hope passionately shared by many of his countrymen that the great crime against him and free institutions might be directly and signally condemned by re-electing him to the office of which he was defrauded. That hope is dust now, but none the less the accomplices in that crime have been found guilty by the opinion of mankind, and their sentence will not be mitigated by history.

It is now generally admitted by Republicans that Mr. Tilden was elected President. Ten years have produced a striking change in the feeling of all but the bitterest and most wrong-headed of his opponents. The sense of justice of the American people was not appealed to in vain, and Mr. Tilden had the satisfaction in the last years of his life of knowing that the party which committed and profited by the crime had ceased for the most part to deny or palliate it. Those who remember how eagerly and generally it was de-fended by the Republicans nine years ago will understand the change.

To Mr. Tilden this changed attitude of the Republicans might seem like a tardy apology for a crime beyond apol-ogy and forgiveness. But not more striking than the respect and honor which Mr. Tilden's political opponents show for his character and his services, is the deep and general contempt into which the miserable man has fallen who got by fraud the office to which Mr. Tilden was elected. For Hayes, even in his own party, there is no respect. The outcast of politics, he has no friends in any party, and is regarded by all with the contempt which his career and his qualities deserve.-N. Y. Sun.

His Hearing Was Good. Mr. Tilden, in making some improvements recently, had need of a skillful engineer to lay off some ground for him back of his farm. One day the Governor drove out to see how the work was going on. The workmen, as they usually do at his approach, took off their hats. Mr. Tilden spoke to Miss Gould, who asked the engineer how the work was coming on. The man took off his hat, walked close up to the side of the T-cart where Mr. Til den was sitting, and yelled:
"We're coming on all right, Guv'- nor," and added, in a low tone of voice to himself: "Why the dickens don't he stay in the house?" Mr. Tilden's eyes sparkled, and lay-ing his left hand on the man's sleeve ne motioned for him to put his ear down to his mouth, and in a low voice

"My hearing is very good." The man's face was a picture; white ed, then white again. Then timidly lifting his eyes to the Governor's face he took off his hat and asked his pardon. Mr. Tilden simply smiled, and motioned for Riley to drive on. -N. Y. Siar.

Veteran vs. Demagogue. That the soldiers have no sympathy with the demagogue swho seek to capture the "soldier vote" by pushing extravagant pension bills is demonstrated by the action of the Grand Army of the Republic at San Francisco recently. The scheme for giving a pension of eight dollars a month to every surviving soldier and sailor, whether he is disabled or not, was brought forward by a representative from Massachusetts, where, oddly enough, it has its chief strength, and after thorough discussion it was rejected by a vote of 327 to 86, —Mr. Tilden was a magnificent or almost exactly four to one. Such a type of the best American statesman-ship. He was endowed with solid eruther Blair school of politicians, who dition. He had not only political sa-gacity but political scholarship.—De-troit Free Press.

PARADISE BIRDS.

The Most Brilliant Kinds Confined to the

The parrots of New Guinea are numerous, the greater number of the 192 species mentioned in Count Salvadori's work being met with within its area. As specially characteristic of the papsun avifauna I may mention the great black cockatoo with its enormous bill, the dwarf leaf parrots with their curious spiny tails, and the extraordi-nary dasyptilus with its naked head and harsh plumage. Brush-tongued lories of the most brilliant colors abound, and are especially characteristic of the paare especially characteristic of the papaun avifauna, although; by no means restricted to it. Count Salvadori includes no less than forty species of this group in his work. The picarian order in New Guinea is composed mainly of cukoos and kingfishers, both of which groups are well represented. There is but a single hornbill and a single bee eater. On the other hand, it should be remarked that, as in Australia, woodbeckers are altoas in Australia, woodpeckers are alto-gether absent. We now come to the great array of passeres, of which no less than 501 species are included in Count Salvadori's work. Among these fly-catchers, catterpillar eaters and shrikes play an important part, as might have been expected where insect life is so abundant, The honey eaters, a group specially characteristic of Australia, are likewise highly developed in New Guinea; Count Salvadori enumerates eighty-nine species. But the greatest glory of the papuan avifauna is the family of paradise birds. These are, in fact, a group of crows, in which the male sex is decked out in the most gaudy and varied plumage, and extraordinary or-namental feathers of the most remarkable forms are developed from different parts of the body. Taking the group of paradise birds as understood by Count Salvadori, that is to include the bower birds, we find about forty species attributed to papua and the moluccas, and one or two brilliant additions have been made to the group since Count Salvadori's work was finished. It is certain from the investigations of recent observers that some of the most brilliant kinds of paradise birds are confined to the more elevated mountains, and one of the reasons for predicting a contin-uous range of high land between Mount Arfak in the north and the Owen Stanleys in the south is that some of the birds of paradise previously only known to exist in the highlands of the Onin Peninsula have been lately obtained on the Owen Stanley Range. — Nineteenth

Shortly after a man (who had probably been an observer) came up and claime the money, which was given to him; so that when the rightful owner came a little later there was nothing for her. The human body is much like a good cleck or watch in its movements; if one goes too slow or too fast, so follow all the others, and bad time results; if one organ or set of organs works imperfectly, perversion of functional effort of all the organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct issue of the abnormal action of the uterine system. For all that numerous class of symptoms—and every woman knows them—there is one unfalling remedy, Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," the favorite of the sex.

is conferred upon that magnificent institu-tion, the human system, by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" that fortifies it against the encroachments of disease. It is the great blood purifier and alterative, and as a remedy for consumption, bron-chitis, and all diseases of a wasting nature, its influence is rapid, efficacious and per-manent. Sold everywhere.

Distress After Eating

Is one of the many disagreeable symptoms of dyppepsia. Headache, heartburn, sour stomach, faintness and capricious appetite are also caused by this very widespread and growing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves the headache, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsis. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling; as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. parilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A.

Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES. AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever ofbred to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and FERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether other western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restorat on of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY FILLS will be sufficient. USE no other pill.
